We are not likely to disclose your personal or sensitive information to overseas recipients.

Do we use cookies on our Website?

Queensland Glass may also collect, use and disclose other, non-personal information on our server log files, including, for example, your IP address, browser type and your usage of our Website. We may collect this information using cookies or similar technologies.

When you visit or use the Website, your web browser may store cookies (files of data) on your computer that may be retrieved when you revisit the Website in order to store your preferences in navigating and using our Website so as to customise your experience on our Website. These cookies do not contain personal information, although they may record and send us your IP address which allows our servers to recognise you and your preferences on our Website. You may delete or prevent cookies from being saved on your computer by changing your internet browser settings and may still use and visit our Website without accepting the cookies. However, if you reject or delete the cookies, you may not be able to take full advantage of certain features on our Website.

We may also collect or use this non-personal information to help us monitor and analyse our Website usage and traffic and this non-personal information may be disclosed to third parties who assist us in conducting the analysis. This information is disclosed in aggregate and to the fullest extent possible, will be de-identified before it is disclosed to third parties. However, please be aware that you IP address may be linked to any personal information that you submit.

How do we secure your personal information?

Queensland Glass takes such steps as are reasonable in the circumstances to secure and protect the integrity of your personal information from misuse, interference and/or loss and unauthorised access, modification and/or disclosure.

For example, Queensland Glass uses firewalls and secure server software (SSL) to encrypt information that you submit before it is sent to us. However, please be aware that the transmission of data over the internet is never completely secure, and while we aim to use our best efforts to secure and protect the information, we cannot guarantee the "perfect security" of any information that is provided or transmitted to us by you or our third parties clients. Any such provision of information is at your own risk or the responsibility of the third parties who provide us with access to your personal information for the purposes of providing our services.

Third party links

Our Website may contain links to or from other third party websites. These other websites are not subject to this Privacy Policy or our privacy practices and procedures and we are not responsible for the content or privacy practices of these third party websites. This Privacy Policy applies solely to the management of personal and sensitive information we collect and hold. We strongly encourage you to read the privacy policies of these third party websites or contact these third parties directly for further information about their privacy practices.

How can you access or correct your personal information?

Queensland Glass takes such steps as are reasonable to ensure that the personal information we collect about you is accurate, up-to-date and complete. However, we rely on the accuracy of the personal information that is provided to us by you or by third parties.

You may seek access to, or request the correction of, the personal or sensitive information that we may hold about you by submitting a request for access or correction of your personal or sensitive information by contacting us at info@queenslandglass.com.au and providing us with details of your request.

Once we receive your request, we will endeavour to respond to that request within a reasonable period after your request is made. There are some exceptions, specified by law, where we may refuse your requests. If one of these circumstances applies, we will provide you with a written explanation of the reasons for the refusal, unless it would be unreasonable to do so.

How can you make a complaint about a breach of your privacy?

If you have any concerns about our handling or treatment of your personal or sensitive information or if you believe that your privacy has been breached, please contact us by sending us an email at info@queenslandglass.com.au or using the contact details below and set out the nature of your complaint.

We will investigate your complaint and endeavour to provide you with our response within a reasonable time of receiving your complaint. If after receiving our response, you still consider that your privacy complaint has not been resolved, you may refer your complaint to the Australian Privacy Commissioner at http://www.oaic.gov.au/.
